House with sea views to buy near the beach in Sant Pol de Mar

3-storey modern detached family house with 5 bedrooms, a service bedroom, utility room, large multipurpose room, a car port and garden and terraces with beautiful sea and hill views in Sant Pol de Mar.

Built in 2002, this large detached modern house enjoys a good location, perched on an elevated plot with wonderful views of the surrounding hills and the deep blue Mediterranean Sea in Sant Pol de Mar. The property is just 500 metres from the beach and within walking distance of the train station and town centre.

The house is spread over several levels with entrance via a unique wooden bridge, leading to a large shaded terrace at the top. Going down a floor we find the living room, dining room, kitchen, a terrace, a double bedroom with a balcony and a bathroom with a shower.

The floor below this offers the remaining 4 bedrooms which include 2 doubles with a shared bathroom with a bathtub and 2 singles that have access to a terrace. There is another bathroom with a shower on the bedroom level.

The machine room and utility room are on the bottom floor, along with a bathroom with a shower and a large multipurpose room of approximately 60 m² with access to the little, green garden through a single door with the possibility of installing large sliding doors out to the garden from this room.

Parking is provided for 2 cars under a carport. The various levels are connected via a staircase and there is space to install a lift if the new owner wishes to do so. The emphasis in the design of this house has been on abundant natural light and views thanks to the many large windows and the visual connection between the floors.

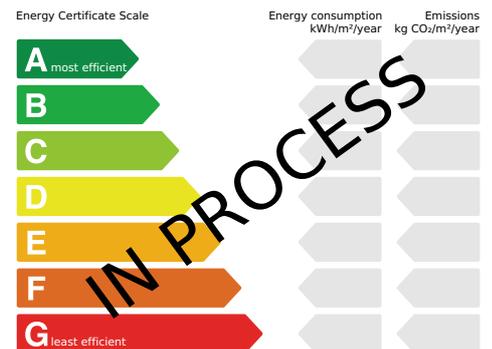

The terraces are shaded and benefit from a pleasant marine breeze and the garden has potential to be landscaped or even have a small pool installed.

A great family house, holiday home or rental investment given the proximity to the beach.
