Upon entering the house, on the main floor of about 185 m², we see a entrance hall with a guest bathroom. We go down to the lower floor of about 90 m² and access a large multipurpose room with a living room and fireplace, an study, a bathroom, a wine cellar and a storage room. From inside the house, you also access the garage where three cars can fit.

The interior of the house has its own style marked by wood and marble floors. In addition, it has air conditioning and electric heating, which could be connected to city gas if necessary. The double-glazed windows are equipped with electric shutters.
