OVERVIEW

Apartment with incredible views in the most emblematic building in Tarragona.

In Tarragona, seeing the life of the city as a miniature park is only possible from the emblematic Atlantic building, especially if the point of view is on the 16th floor and you can enjoy a complete floor, with a terrace of more than 40 m² with a southeast orientation.

The apartment has two entrances, one for service and the main one, where we find a large hall with an entrance to the main living-dining room. This large space is divided into two rooms divided by a wide passage, but both with incredible views over the sea, the Rambla Nova and the city: the dining room and the living room with a fireplace. From this room, through both ends you can access the magnificent terrace of more than 40 m², which constitutes a unique watchtower over the sea, the city and its surroundings. Due to its configuration, the terrace can also be divided into different areas.

Going through a door located on the right side of the dining room, we access a second living-dining room of a smaller size, but with equally impressive views. A door leads us to a small hall where we find a library-room with the capacity to house a large pool table, the kitchen and a service room with private toilet and access to the landing through the service door. From the kitchen there is also access to a gallery-corridor that serves as the machine room and laundry area. In the same gallery there is also the access to the emergency staircase of the building.

In the left wing of the home we have the night area, which consists of four bedrooms and three bathrooms. The master bedroom, in master-suite format, has access to the terrace and views from two other windows, one in the bedroom and the second in the dressing area. Adjacent to this and through a corridor equipped with built-in wardrobes, there is a single bedroom with access to the terrace and enough space to house a study area and a built-in wardrobe. On the opposite side of the corridor we find two other double bedrooms. This area is completed with two additional bathrooms for shared use.

Also, the property has a parking space in the same building.

The popular Atlántico building, which has a concierge service, is located in the heart of Tarragona and at the foot of its most emblematic avenue, Rambla Nova. So, this home is one of the most exclusive that can be purchased today in the city.
